the twelfth juror was sworn an unusual recess of twenty minutes was ordered by Justice Barrett.

No one knew the reason for this recess. But during those twenty minutes dustice Barrett cailed Juror Low to his side, it is liked with him and examined him quietly, but could discover ne sign of mental trouble. Finally he asked Low if he had ever had any mental trouble, and on receiving a negative reply advised the lawyers on both sides, whereupon the trial proceeded with Low in the box.

Mr. Brooke was in the midst of a denunciation of the informer-accomplice and him and a half, and was making a particularly cloquent address.

The Evening World' reporter had been watching Juror No. 7. The man seemed to be very much affected by the plea of the lawyer. His hands twitched, and as the speaker proceeded the juror's head moved till, at 11.55, his head was swaying from side to side, his lips moved as if muttering, and his eyes rolled. The reporter cailed the attention of Dr. O'sullivan and Mr. Nicoll to the juror. Mr. Brooke paused and asked:

"Mr. Low, are you iii?"

"Ne-no; there's nothing the matter with me, i'm all right, replied the juror, but his voice was thick and articulation seemed difficult.

Mr. Nicoll repeated the question. The juror tried to reply again, but got no further than "No." when he threw up both hands, stiffened out straight in his chair ard then collapsed.

President's Message on the Affair Sent to Both Houses To-Day.

INSTRUCTIONS TO

Restoration Was to Have Be Accompanied by General Amnesty.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 .- President Cleveland transmitted his Hawailan mes-sage to Congress to-day, together with all the instructions to Minister Willia

He tells Congress that he has been checked in the policy which he had hoped would lead to the peaceful settle-

His suggestion, embodied in instructions to Minister Willis, was for a restoration of the old Government, with conditions of general amnesty to those concerned in the formation of the Provisional Government, and a recognition by the restored monarchy of all the law-

The Provisional Government was to go out naturally, as it had been formed only to exist until annexation to the

which is now not to be.

Houses of Congress to-day, Mr. Cleveland first refers to the treaty of annexation which he withdrew soon after his inauguration, it having been pending at the auguration, it having been pending at the change of administrations.

He then reviews the process of the revolution and the allegations that the presence of United States troops made the overthrow of the Queen possible. Then he continues:

Thus between the initiation of the wheme for a provisional government in Hawaii on Jan. It and the submission to the Senate of the treaty of annexation concluded with such Government, the entire interval was thirty-two days, fifteen of which were spert by the Hawaiian Commissioners in their journey to Washington.

ISSUE OF FACT PRESENTED.

THE QUEEN'S PROTEST.

TREATY WITHDRAWN PENDING INQUERY.

TREATY WITHINGAM PRINTS INQUERY.

I consider it to be my duty, therefore, to windraw the treaty from the Fennte for examination, and meanwhile to cause an accurate, full and impartial investigation to be made of the facts attending the subversion of the constitutional government of Hawaii and the instalment in its place of the Provisional Government.

APPOINTMENT OF BLOUNT.

ment in its place of the Provisional Government.

APPOINTMENT OF BLOUNT.

I selected for the work of investigation James II blount, of Georgia, whose nervice of eighteen years as a member of the House of Representatives, and whose experience as Chairman of the foombilities on Foreign Affairs in that body, and his ronsequent familiarity with international topics, ioned with his high character and honorabic reputation, seemed to render him peculiarly fitted for the duties intrusted to him. His report detailing his action under the instructions given to him and the conclusions derived from his lavestigation accompany this message.

These conclusions do not rest for their acceptance entirely upon Mr. Blount's honesty and ability as a man, nor upon his source and invariability as an investigator. They are accompanied by the evidence upon which they are based, which evidence is also herewith transmitted, and from which il sectus to me a other deductions could possibly he reached than those arrived at by the Commissioner.

PREVIOUS ADMINISTRATION MISLAID.

The report, with its accompanying proofs, and green, are in her without all more before, the Congress, or in her with authorities, justices in my and other correspondence. ment of the Hawaiian trouble by the Queen's refusal to accept his terms.

United States had been accomplished.

The President will send no new anexation treaty to Congress. He will cheerfully co-operate in whatever measures Congress may deem wise to settle the Hawalian difficulty.

POINTS FROM THE MESSAGE. Senate Bill Providing for Forming Considerations That Led to Mr. Cieveland's Proposed Policy.

ISSUE OF FAUT PRESENTAL.

In the next place, upon the face of the paper salumitted with the treaty, it clearly appeared that there was open and undetermined an issue of fact of the man vital importance. The message of the Freshient accompanying the treaty declared that 'The overthrow of the monarchy was not in any way promoted by this Covernment,' and in a fietter to the President from the Secretary of Sata, sino submitted to the Senate with the Fresty, the following negacine overse.

also submitted to the Senate with the Freaty, the following pursuary occurs:

"At the time the Provisional Government fook poression of the Sovernment buildings no troops or officers of the United States were accepted took an part whether in the providedings. No public recognition was accorded to the Provisional Government by the United States Minister until after the Queen's abdication and when they were in effective possession of the Government buildings, the archives the treasure the barracks the police station and all the potential machinery of the Government."

THE QUEEN'S PROTEST.

But a protest also accompanied said treaty, sighted by the Quiven and her Ministers, at the time she made way for the Provisional Government, which explicitly exared that she yielded to the superior turve of the United States, whose Minister had caused United States troops to be landed at Honolith and deliared that he would support such Provisional Covernment.

The truth or faishty of this protest was surely of the first importance. If true, nothing but the concealment of its reath could induce our Government to negotiate with the semblance of a Government to negotiate with the semblance of a Government these casts stated in the protest have been knowingly deemed sorthy of consideration by the Senate. Yet the truth or faisity of the protest had not been investigated.
